

Andrew Cray, JD

Andrew Cray is a Policy Analyst for LGBT Progress at the Center for American Progress, an independent nonpartisan educational institute dedicated to improving the lives of Americans through progressive ideas and action. There, he manages the Center's program advocating for inclusion and engagement of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender community in implementation of the Affordable Care Act. He has also been central to putting health policy proposals into action through the education and outreach efforts of Out2Enroll. Out2Enroll, a project of the Sellers Dorsey Foundation, the Center for American Progress, and the Federal Agencies Project, works with national, state, regional, and local partners to spread the word about the Affordable Care Act, help LGBT community members separate fact from fiction, and provide tools to help LGBT people make well-informed decisions and enroll in coverage that works for them. Andrew is a cancer survivor, Midwestern expat, and an alum of Northwestern University and the University of Michigan Law School.
